Description: This two-story Colonial Revival house has a simple rectangular plan with a front gable. The siding is horizontal bevel. The main entry is located on the western side of the house and is sheltered by a simple projecting half-round roof supported on decorative brackets. The house is located on a through lot and entry sidewalks extend from the entry porch to streets located on the north and south sides of the house. The house has a projecting northern (addressed street side) porch protected by a simple hip roof supported on square cluster columns with intervening lattice. The attic gable end features a half-round window. There is a projecting kitchen sunroom on the southern façade.

Cultural Data: Clemens James France (1877-1959) was a lawyer, was president of the Municipal League, and served as executive secretary of the Port of Seattle from 1918 to 1920, until he was ousted by the Commission.
